With the new Music Hub on the DMM Records website, a central destination has been created for everyone who wants to discover music, use it professionally and bring it to a wider audience. The Music Hub was designed to connect artists, DJs, radio stations and music professionals in a simple, modern and direct way.

The concept is intentionally clear: create an account, log in, discover the music and download songs in full length. No complicated steps, no confusing structures and no endless searching. The Music Hub brings the releases of DMM Records together in one central place and makes them directly accessible for DJs and radio stations.

For DJs, the Music Hub offers real value. New tracks can be listened to in full, downloaded and integrated into sets. Whether for clubs, events, streaming sets, radio shows or playlist preparation, the songs are clearly organized and ready to be used in a professional musical environment.

Radio stations also benefit from the new platform. Through the Music Hub, they receive easy access to full-length songs and can use them directly for broadcasts, music programs or editorial formats. DMM Records creates a professional bridge between the label, its artists and media partners.

At the center of the Music Hub are the artists of DMM Records: Daddy Mike, Mike Neon and DMM Soundmachine. Their music receives its own digital space, where sound, style and creative identity become clearly visible and accessible. Every track is part of a growing musical universe that continues to evolve with every new release.

The Music Hub is more than just a download area. It is a modern music portal that combines clarity, quality and artistic ambition. The platform makes music accessible, structured and ready to be presented. It creates a direct path from production to airplay, from artist to DJ, from label to radio station.

With the Music Hub, DMM Records sends a clear message for a new form of music distribution: fast, direct, professional and artistically focused. The platform makes it easy to discover new songs, experience them in full length and bring them out into the world.

Create an account. Discover the music. Download the songs in full length. Play the sound of DMM Records.
